A BETTER TONE ON WALL STREET,

Due to the Prespect for An Early Ending of the Tariff Uncertainty. Attitude of English Speculators, Rejection of the State Tax Repeat Bill Had a Reassuring Effect-Discouraging Effects of the Miners' Strike-The Outflow of Gold.

Correspondence of the Intelligencer

New Yoak, June 9.-Last week's improvement in the tone of the stock mar-ket has been followed by another week of recovering confidence. The change appears to have been less due to any new buying movement than to a general disposition among the "bear" oper-ators to cover "short" contracts, which has prevailed on the London market as well as here. This disposition has been due partly to the upward tendency in the price of wholt, which is construed as favorable to the forwarding of that cereal and therefore to the prospects of railroad traffic. On this account there has been a distinct improvement in the has been a distinct improvement in the tone of the grangers and especially of Rock Island and St. Paul. The better tone, however, is more especially traceable to the progress made in the senste towards closing the tariff discussion and the passages of that measure at a comparative early date. London appears to have all slong exaggerated the possibilities of the bill heing defeated, and has been "bearish" towards but stocks. has been "bearlah" towards bur stocks on the bill being defeated, and has been "bearlsh" towards bur stocks on that account.

Believers, as the Englishare, in the virtues of low tariffs, it is natural that they should construct the new more certain prospect of the successful the tariff bill as favorable to our investments, and they are therefore more likely to stand on the "buil" side than on the "bear," under present circumstances. Certainly, so long as this view encourages London to invest in our securities, New York will have no objection to our transatiantic friends indulging in their conclusion to their full bent; and we should not be surprised it, when the tariff is finally onacted—about which there now seems to be no room for a reasonable doubt,—the event will be attended with a marked improvement in the London demand. There are also other circumstances which for the moment are acting favorably upon British estimates of our obligations. They have for some time injudied in ness. moment are acting favorably upon British estimates of our obligations. They have for some time included in pessimistic views about the prospects of our government finances; but the confidence now expressed by the administration as to the sufficiency of future income, without resort to any special means for bridging over temporary deficiencies, may be expected to qualify those mistaken judgments.

The decisive rejection of the bill repealing the 10 per cent tax on state

The decisive rejection of the bill re-pealing the 10 per cent tax on state bank notes is also calculated to have an assuring effect abreat; for, following the repeal of silver purchases and the rejection of the Bland seignforage bill, it can only be construed as implying that Congress may be trusted to dis-criminate against unsound measures of currency, if it be not prepared to go as fast and as far in the way of wholesome money reforms as the circumstances fast and as far in the way of wholesome money reforms as the circumstances may seem to require. For these reasons, we are disposed to think that coming conditions will tend to dissipate that distrustful discrimination against our investments which has, for nearly two years past, preponderated in the London market. Another motive may help towards that result. While nearly every other kind of security has been freely exploited by London speculation and prices thereby advanced beyond what conditions seem to justify. Americans conditions seem to justify. Americans have been systematically neglected; it would therefore seem likely that the coming removal of the obstructions that have caused this distrust will be attendnave caused this distrust will be attend-ed with a pronounced reaction in favor of our investments. This seems to be among the things that may be reasona-bly hoped for when the material inter-ests of this country have been released from the distracting suspense connected with trait changes.

with tariff changes.

The persistence of the wilespread strikes in the mining regions had a discouraging effect, which, however, is becouraging effect, which, however, is beginning to disappear as the prospects of an early settlement become more positive. The struggle was one of the inevitable results of a change of commercial policy that meant, as one of its earliesteffects, a reduction in the price of facts and ores. It is much better that the struggle should come now, while the reconstruction of the tariff is in process, than that it should have to be fought when the industries are resuming opersitions under the newly-established con-DIRECTORS

Wall street still takes complacently to the large and unanticipated outflow of rold to Europe. The total amount hipped since the outflow set illie now shipped since the outflow set illie now over $40,000,000. It is not to beregarded as an entirely natural exchange movement; and so long as weldo not need the metal for movetary uses but rather burthened with it as a siperfluity, its loss is viewed as no special matter for regret. Next week, Austria starts the resumption of gold payments; and there exports are mainly incident to that event; for, although the gold had been long contracted for, yet the bankers undertaking the engagement had not until now delivered the entire supply. It is something of which bankers, undertaking the engagement had not until now delivered the entire supply. It is something of which Americans may be proud that they can contribute such a large portion of the gold required for that great operation without feeling a ripple of momentary disturbance, and without incurring the least discomfort in its investment markets. There is no other financial centre in the world that could have endured such a drain without suffering the acutest kind of derangement. The quiet and silence with which this extraordinary contribution to the relabilisation of the finances of a great nation has been effected, is a striking expression of the resource of the country about whose fate and financial management European censors are so superciliously critical. We have, moreover, the satisfaction of knowing that we have parted with no more than we can easily afford to dispense with; and it is a safe and reasonable assumption that, if under any future conditions, we should need the resurre of same part of this gold, the power of resource that has enabled us to contribute it will empower us to reclaim er of resource that has enabled us to contribute it will empower us to reclaim it. In the ubsence of any adverse normal conditions of exchange and the wants of Austria having been presumably satisfied, it is reasonable to expect that the export will now steadily cease.
